October 2021

BEST YARD of the MONTH for SEPTEMBER 2021: #255

The September Best Yard Award, featured in this October issue, is Unit #255. It is an attractive, gray double-wide home.

On the right side a clean driveway. The front contains a long, raised patio with brick facing and a wood railing. There are also many ornaments and plants; such as a little boy sitting on a log, a giraffe, plants, an owl, a colorful roster, butterflies, a bluebird, and more. They are set in a rock base of various sizes and colors with a scalloped brick border. The left side consists of two plants in a rock base and a red patio-stone walkway leading to the back yard. Everything is neat, clean, and weed-free. Looks great!

October is the fallen leaf, but it is also a wider horizon more clearly seen. It is the distant hills once more in sight, and the enduring constellations above them once again.

WHAT IS YOUR CARBON FOOTPRINT?

Many of our daily activities — such as using electricity, driving a car, or disposing of waste — cause greenhouse gas emissions. Together these emissions make up a household's carbon footprint.

The calculator estimates your footprint in three areas: home energy, transportation and waste. Everyone's carbon footprint is different depending on their location, habits, and personal choices.

Take a few minutes to find out with EPA's Household Carbon Footprint Calculator.

FALL FLOWERS FOR YOUR GARDEN

Add some beautiful color to your flower gardens this fall. These fall flowers to plant in your garden can withstand those chilly nights and bring vibrant colors to any fall day! Just because it is fall doesn't mean you have to hang up those gardening gloves yet. Add some hardy fall flowers to your garden. Below are suggestions for six fall flowers to plant.

1. Mums (Chrysanthemums)

They come in variety of warm colors and usually bloom for about three weeks depending on the climate.

2. Winter Pansies Get a jump on your spring planting. Plant and enjoy their flowers now and again in the spring.

3. Fall Rudbeckia There are both perennial and annual varieties of Rudbeckia. This is the annual variety and will not come back in the spring.

4. Asters These add superb color in the fall. Plants are very hardy and come in a wide range of bright colors.

5. Montauk Daisies These perennials bloom late summer to early fall and will come back year after year. They produce large white flowers.

6. Flowering Cabbage Just as the name suggests, these plants look like a colorful cabbage. There is really no "flower" to the flowering cabbage, these colorful plants are frost-resistant and very long-lasting. They are the longest lasting of the fall flowers, usually until Thanksgiving and sometimes even longer depending on the climate zone.
